WHAT TOPICS

Business Definition

Businesses run more efficiently with a simple definition that expresses what a business is about, where it's going and how it will get there. Projects are easier to manage when both objective and context are clear. Simplicity, brevity, pragmatism and effective communication are key to getting the whole company rowing in the same direction.

In this talk, Wally uses real life, and sometimes amusing, war stories to communicate what he means.

WHAT THE AUDIENCE SAYS

"As a direct result of a presentation Wally made at our TeabagTalent professionals forum, I always go for a meeting of '3' to drive the best results from meetings. Wally's presentations provide valuable content with funny, engaging and stylish delivery."

Barrie Humphries, Director Bazria Ltd

Wally Robertson is a highly engaging and entertaining speaker who brings enlightenment to the world of business. He's the kind of speaker who leaves your head full of useful thoughts on how to approach things. His time spent in Britain and America puts him in a good position to make insightful trans-Atlantic observations. Wally is also a master networker - the kind of person who can put you in touch with just the right person.

Michael Dodd, Sky Television broadcast journalist and international speaker

"From his personal experience, Wal brings an international perspective into his talks. Very challenging, sometimes provocative, thoroughly relevant and current and always entertaining. Fearless: says what he thinks."

Phil Collinge, A Principal in the TeabagTalent Community

"Wally's talk on Fearless Partnership Networking was inspirational, thought provoking and highly entertaining at the same time. The audience loved it and a lively debate followed."

Annick Devillard, Director, The Rooster Ltd, and Chair Riverside Business Club, London
